Rdr2 horseman challenge 10 guide

Wild Tennessee Walker in the new region of Hannover, in the sub-region of Heartlands. A Wild Mustang can also lay the eggs here. (If you are short of money in the game you could always make the challenges explorer.) Start close to the lighthouse so that it counts as "in van horn trading post." As with Challenge # 6 you will have a couple of rivers to cross, but by Van Horn Trading Post, it's not a problem. Three wooden fences and the challenge is complete! You can also do it at the Emerald Ranch galloping through the pens. Be aware that if at any time you crash and / or fall from your horse, you will need to start over again. Even the trampling from a raccoon is not, not as a sportsman like though, when you can do it: chapter 2, after the challenge # 1 This I did it by chance while trying to escape the law During one of the stupid challenges of the bandits. Following the road you will have to go left to reach this railway bridge. There are 9 wild horse races in RDR2 that are necessary for this challenge, the guide below shows their positions (and some others that are not necessary for the challenge). Go west along the way to the point in the first screenshot. Even if you are trying to do it, and do it out of the path (unlike the little idiots crossing the path while you're going through), then try riding along the Dakota River. The races that can lay eggs often overlap (usually there are at least 2 races that lay in the same area). In the end the Stamina del Nakota drains and return to Riva (or "Shure" as Arthur would pronounce). Horseman Challenge n. 9: Guide from Van Horn to Blackwater in less than 17 minutes without touching any water and you can do it: after epilog part 1 mission "Motherhood" (
